EBR Schools Group to Perform National Anthem at New Orleans Pelicans Game

BATON ROUGE, La. — The Famous Singing Pirates of Park Forest Elementary Creative Sciences and Arts Magnet have earned a major opportunity to perform the national anthem at the New Orleans Pelicans vs. Oklahoma City Thunder NBA game at 7 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 17, at the Smoothie King Center in New Orleans.

The Famous Singing Pirates, a talented group of third, fourth and fifth graders, were selected after a competitive audition process.

“Excited is an understatement. I always knew they could do it. Now, the world will see what I’ve been saying all along,” said Dominique Gibbs, the group’s founder and director.

The Pelicans sales team has partnered with the group to make this event a fundraising opportunity for the school. For every ticket purchased through the dedicated link or QR code, a donation will be made back to Park Forest.

The Famous Singing Pirates are known for their dynamic performances and musical excellence. The group has released two music albums, including their latest, “Multiplying at the Hip-Hop Table,” a creative blend of hip-hop and academics designed to help students memorize multiplication facts from 2 to 12.
